About Me

Highly motivated Product Manager over 2 years of experience in the tech industry. My background as a UI/UX Designer has equipped me with strong design thinking, user empathy, and a deep understanding of user needs. I excel in translating these needs into successful product roadmaps and collaborating effectively with cross-functional teams. I have a keen understanding of data analysis and am proficient in tools like Power BI and Excel, enabling me to make data-driven decisions and measure product performance.
